

Muka Development Group LLC Social Media Policy

Muka Development Group LLC employees are not able to engage with our customers over social media. Because we are a software development company and deal with sensitive client information, we cannot personally engage on social media with our clients. This includes all generally recognized social media channels, blogs, sites that share photos and video, and other online outlets.

While we trust our employees and our clients not to discuss privileged information, this social media ban provides a higher level of customer service that protects both our clients and our employees.

Although individual employees do not interact with customers on social media, as a company we are generally open to engaging with Titan users in various online forums. Please connect with the Muka Development Group Titan 3000 Facebook account and watch for regular updates via our email newsletters. If you are a Titan 3000 software user and would like to add your co-workers to our email list, please contact us.
